Investment Objective and Strategies

The Evolve Dividend Stability Index ETF (the "Fund") seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the Solactive Dividend Stability Canada Preferred Share Index, or any successor thereto. The Fund invests primarily in preferred equity securities of companies listed in Canada.

Risk

There were no changes to the Fund over the period of this report that materially affected the level of risk associated with an investment in the Fund. Prospective investors should read the Fund's most recent prospectus and consider the description of risks contained therein.

Results of Operations

Since the Fund was launched on September 26, 2019, no performance data can be shown. The Fund's net assets were $33.4MM as at June 30, 2020.

Portfolio Manager Commentary

Canadian preferred shares underperformed all major asset classes during the first half of the year, led by floating rate and fixed reset preferreds with low resets which experienced a sharp sell-off.

During the first quarter, preferreds did not escape market volatility triggered by the coronavirus, and were further impacted by central banks around the world cutting interest rates to record lows in their quest to stimulate their economies which had slowed to a crawl.

The Bank of Canada cut interest rate three times in the month of March alone, with rates declining dramatically, from 1.75% to 0.25%.

As a result, interest rates came under substantial pressure with global yields courting negative territory on the back of an uncertain global economic outlook. Fixed reset preferreds which make up almost three-quarters of the Canadian preferred market were the most affected by low yields.

In the second quarter, preferreds regained some ground on the back of tightening credit spreads and stabilizing fund flows, albeit in a continuing low rate environment. Credit spreads tightened in June in the wake of government and central bank stimulus.

The Fund outperformed its peers because it has no exposure to floating rate preferreds, and the portfolio has a higher allocation to P1 credit quality which has proven to be more resilient during market sell offs. In addition, all rate reset preferreds held by the Fund have a minimum floor built in.

Recent Developments

Subsequent to year end, COVID-19 became a global pandemic and resulted unprecedented actions by governments around the world to curtail the spread of the disease. These events have resulted in a high level of uncertainty and volatility in the financial markets and have had an enormous impact on businesses and consumers in all sectors. The duration and impact of these developments is unknown at this time and as such, the financial impact to investments cannot be estimated.

Related Party Transactions

4 This information is provided as at June 30, 2020 and December 31, 2019.

5 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

6 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of average daily net assets during the period.

7 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.
