Investment Objective and Strategies

The Evolve European Banks Enhanced Yield ETF (the "Fund") seeks to replicate, to the extent reasonably possible and before fees and expenses, the performance of the Solactive European Bank Top 20 Equal Weight Index Canadian Dollar Hedged, or any successor thereto, while mitigating downside risk. The Fund invests primarily in the equity constituents of the Solactive European Bank Top 20 Equal Weight Index Canadian Dollar Hedged, or any successor thereto, while writing covered call options on up to 33% of the portfolio securities, at the discretion of the Manager. The level of covered call option writing may vary based on market volatility and other factors.

Risk

There were no changes to the Fund over the period of this report that materially affected the level of risk associated with an investment in the Fund. Prospective investors should read the Fund's most recent prospectus and consider the description of risks contained therein.

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2024, the Unhedged ETF Units returned 14.9% versus the Solactive European Bank Top 20 Equal Weight Index return of 18.4%. The Hedged ETF Units returned 15.6% versus Solactive European Bank Top 20 Equal Weight Index return of 18.4%. The US Dollar Unhedged ETF Units returned 11.2% versus the Solactive European Bank Top 20 Equal Weight Index return of 18.4%. The difference in performance of the hedged units relative to its benchmark can be attributed primarily to management and administration fees plus applicable sales taxes and to portfolio trading and hedging strategies. The difference in performance of the unhedged units relative to its benchmark can be attributed primarily to management and administration fees plus applicable sales taxes and to portfolio trading. Furthermore, the difference can also be attributed to the implementation of the call writing strategy where the Fund tends to outperform in flat or down markets and underperform during sharp market advances. This performance difference can be seen over the period the calls are written, typically with one to two months to expiry, and then resets when new option positions are established. The Fund's net assets were $7.0MM as at June 30, 2024.

Portfolio Manager Commentary

The first half of 2024 has seen European banks performing robustly, marking a period of strong financial health for the sector. However, political instability has posed challenges in the region, introducing some volatility into the market<sup>1</sup>. Despite these challenges, the overall resilience of European banks has been more than evident, as these stocks have outpaced the gains of the broader market since the beginning of 2023 as higher interest rates boost lenders' income and amid bigger shareholder payouts<sup>2</sup>.

In a significant move, the European Central Bank (ECB) cut its interest rate by 25 basis points in June, following nine months of holding rates steady<sup>3</sup>. This decision was a strategic response to improving economic conditions and has since resulted in a 2.5% drop in inflation in the region. The ECB is expected to cut interest rates for a second time in September, which would typically result in lower net interest income for banks operating in the region, but so far banks' earnings have proved surprisingly robust and their shares have continued higher. More specifically, major banks such as HSBC, Standard Chartered, and ING Group all reported impressive second quarter earnings results. All three of these institutions exceeded market estimates, showcasing their strong operational performance and effective management strategies. Their success reflects broader trends in the sector, highlighting the banks' ability to navigate both opportunities and challenges effectively.

In summary, the European banking landscape in the first half of 2024 has been characterized by strong performance and resilience amid some political and economic headwinds. The ECB's latest interest rate cut and subsequent improvement in the region's inflation outlook have provided a favorable backdrop for the sector heading into the remaining six months of the year.

5 This information is provided as at June 30, 2024, and December 31, 2023 and 2022.

6 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

7 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of average daily net assets during the period.

8 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Past Performance

The performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution, income taxes payable by any unitholder or other optional charges that, if applicable, would have reduced returns or performance. The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the investment fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional securities of the investment fund. How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Year-by-Year Returns

The bar chart below shows the Hedged, Unhedged, and US Dollar Unhedged ETF Units' performance for each of the financial years shown and for the six-month period ended June 30, 2024. The chart shows, in percentage terms, how much an investment made in the Fund on the first day of each financial period would have grown or decreased by the last day of that financial period.
