Investment Objective and Strategies

The Evolve Active Canadian Preferred Share Fund (the "Fund") seeks to provide holders of Units with stable income and long-term capital appreciation by investing primarily in a diversified mix of preferred shares of primarily Canadian issuers, in addition to U.S. and international issuers.

Risk

There were no changes to the Fund over the period of this report that materially affected the level of risk associated with an investment in the Fund. Prospective investors should read the Fund's most recent prospectus and consider the description of risks contained therein.

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2022, Unhedged ETF Units returned -8.6%. The Unhedged Class A Mutual Fund Units returned -9.0% and the Unhedged Class F Mutual Fund Units returned -8.6%. The Fund's net assets were $112.3MM as at June 30, 2022.

Portfolio Manager Commentary

During the first half of 2022, market sentiments were negatively impacted by fears of sustained inflation, rising interest rates, the Russian invasion of Ukraine, and ongoing concerns about the COVID-19 Omicron variant.

Amidst market volatility, preferred shares underperformed during the second quarter of 2022, with the S&P Preferred Shares Index declining 7.5%. The Index's quarterly sector returns for Perpetuals, Fixed Resets, and Floating Rates were -11.9%, -6.5%, and -6.2%, respectively.

The first quarter saw almost $3.5 billion in redemptions, with another $1.75 billion in the second quarter. Among these redemptions were Brookfield Renewable Partners Series 11 for $250 million; Bank of Montreal, Series 40 for $500 million; and TC Energy Corp. for $1 billion.(i)

During the quarter, there were four new issues totalling $1.275 billion, including TD Bank Group, Series 27, for $850 million; Intact Financial, Series 11, for $150 million, Partners Value Slit Corp., Series 13, for $150 million; and Brookfield Renewable Partners, Series 18, for $125 million.(ii)

There was no issuance in the second quarter of 2022 for the preferred shares market. The negative price performance continued into the second quarter as bond yields rose. Corporate spreads widened again into June driven by uncertainty surrounded by inflation and the prospects of growth.

Although, there were several new issuances of Limited Capital Recourse Notes (LRCNs) in the last quarter, which reinforces the view that financial institutions will favour switching their regulatory capital from retail preferred share investors to institutional investors. The TD Bank issue of $850 million for institutional investors in the first quarter are closer to LRCNs rather than the traditional preferred shares available to retail investors.

The Fund has had negative absolute returns during the second quarter of 2022 but was able to provide strong downside protection relative to the benchmark. This outperformance was primarily driven by security selection. In addition, being defensive and overweight Fixed Resets with low rate reset spreads contributed positively, as did securities with low duration which acted defensively in the rising interest rate environment. Some portfolio adjustments included, adding Fixed Resets with a high likelihood of being called and adding to Banks; and being overweight in P-2, focusing on issuers with strong fundamentals.

Higher expected interest rates and volatile credit environment coupled with low supply and redemptions are expected to continue for the remainder of the year. We expect more issuance of OTC preferred shares, but minimal. Expectations are for less price return and more return from dividend income, with negative returns in 2022 via credit spread widening.

5 Management expense ratio ("MER") is based on total expenses plus harmonized sales tax (excluding distributions, commissions and other portfolio transaction costs) for the stated period and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the period.

6 The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of average daily net assets during the period.

7 The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund's portfolio manager trades its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the period. The higher the Fund's portfolio turnover rate in a period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a fund.

Past Performance

The performance information does not take into account sales, redemption, distribution, income taxes payable by any unitholder or other optional charges that, if applicable, would have reduced returns or performance. The performance information shown assumes that all distributions made by the investment Fund in the periods shown were reinvested in additional securities of the investment fund. How the Fund has performed in the past does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.
